What is the INDUSTRIAL NET ZERO Conference?

The 4th annual Industrial Net Zero conference is the premier forum for professionals in mining, manufacturing, energy, metals, and transportation sectors to explore practical strategies for decarbonisation.

As Australia's heavy industries face growing pressure to reach net zero, this is where you can learn from industry leaders, form cross-sector coalitions, and deliver scalable, profitable solutions. With the Safeguard Mechanism tightening and decarbonisation offering clear business advantages, now is the time to collaborate, innovate, and lead the net-zero transition.

WHO WILL YOU MEET?

KEY THEMES:

-  Navigating policy uncertainty and unlocking funding for industrial decarbonisation projects
-  Energy efficiency to reduce emissions (the greenest electronics is the one you don't use)
-  Building the commercial case for decarbonisation technology investment
-  Electrifying traditionally fossil-fuel-dependent industrial processes
-  Evaluating emerging low-carbon technologies for industrial heat processes

Full of relevant engaging presentations and knowledgeable people to network with. ”

Katrina Summersett, Group Sustainability Manager, IXOM (past attendee)

Why leaders and decision makers will be at the INDUSTRIAL NET ZERO CONFERENCE

The only event dedicated to 'hard to abate industries': delegates will hear solutions from their peers across various industries, giving them access to ideas and solutions from those with similar challenges

Deep dive into real world case studies, including approaches to contracting renewable energy PPAs, meeting climate commitments without carbon offsets, and minimising carbon in construction and ongoing operational energy and maintenance needs

Analysis of alternative fuels for heat energy, including hydrogen and biomethane as replacements for natural gas, as well as pathways for industries locked into fossil fuels

Examination of emission capture or reduction technology specifically for high emissions industries (and how to justify the costs)

Why partner with the INDUSTRIAL NET ZERO CONFERENCE?

The Industrial Net Zero Conference is your opportunity to meet senior executives from hard to abate industries, who are actively looking for ways to decarbonise their operations.

Whether you have the technology to help drive emissions reduction, or can help businesses plan their transition, this is a chance to engage with the decision makers responsible for moving Australian industry to net zero.

You should consider sponsoring if you:

- ▶ Are looking to showcase your business as a leader in the transition to net zero for industry
- ▶ Provide strategic advice to businesses looking to reduce carbon emissions in their operations
- ▶ Can help businesses reduce their energy and heat costs
- ▶ Offer technology or platforms that can help drive more efficient operations
- ▶ Are a specialist environment or sustainability professional services firm
- ▶ Have the ability to help businesses finance decarbonisation projects

“This was a great conference for anyone interested in the complexities of industrial decarbonisation.”

Sam Mella, Senior Project Manager, Beyond Zero Emissions
(attendee, 2024)

“A fantastic opportunity to learn from and gather like minded individuals with a sustainability goal.”
